

Brussels, 18th October 2023

Following the publication of a call to tender by the European Commission, Construction Products Europe invited several stakeholders to initiate the drafting process. After a lengthy selection process, we are pleased to announce that the tender led by TECNALIA, Cobuilder, and UNE won the contract with Construction Products Europe, FIEC, EBC, and GS1 as supportive advisory group members. A first meeting will be scheduled before the end of the year, with a wider consultation in the first half of 2024.

Christophe Sykes, Director General, stated that “coordination is as important as the digital transformation of our industry. Digital solutions must be efficient, open-source, and assist the industry and the value-chain in connecting and sharing valuable information. We look forward to collaborating on this technical but crucial project.”

The European Commission wishes to receive advice and expert views on a potential EU database or digital information system linked to the Construction Products Regulation and the Declaration of Performance (DoP) of construction products.

More information will be made available soon.
